

My idea is a simple one and one that I have used every year and I truly believe it works! I have several accounting speakers come in to speak to my classes throughout the year. One of my speakers has been talking to my classes for approx. 20 years and he does an awesome job. He has climbed the ladder in his company and it is so good for the students to see that with this career, a person does climb the corporate ladder. I also try to get in past students who are either in school for accounting or recent graduates to talk about their experiences and the students love it. I feel that students need to see that this is actually a career choice and a good one that can be very lucrative. Thanks for the opportunity for the chance for the Gift Card!
